Justice to Gen. Scott.

authentic statement: "The brave old hero of Chippewa and Lundy's Lane has suffered a most signal defeat by the young volunteer-general from New Hampshire; but it is gratifying to hear that General Scott proves himself equal to the emergencies of this last and most disastrous battle. According to our latest advices from Washington, he falls back upon his post of General-in-Chief of the Army, with the most pleasing equanimity and good humor. There may he continue to flcurish, hale and vigorous, for the next thirty years, and longer, if he desires it. He has rendered the most brilliant services in the field to his country, and it is a matter of public satisfaction that he is still the active head of the army. After all, he did right to hold on. He stands there, like a reserved corps of the old Imperial Guard, only to be called out when the rappel is sounded for a resistless charge upon the common enemy. He has failed, by an extraordinary conjuncture of unlucky circumstances, to reach the White House; but he may yet prove to be an indispensable defender of General Pierce's administration. Who knows?

Both Sides Scared.

Mr. Webster is said to have told the following little story of himself:

Before railroads were built, he was forced one night to make a journey, by private conveyance, from Baltimore to Washington. The man who drove the wagon, was such an ill-looking fellow, and told so many stories of robberies and murders, that before they had gone far Mr. Webster was almost frightened out of his wits. At last more, and Alexandria steamship company, has the wagon stopped in the midst of a dense wood, passenger, exclaimed fiercely, "Now, sir, tell me ing voice, and ready to spring from the vehicle. "I am Daniel Webster, member of Congress from Massachusetts!" "What," rejoined the driver, grasping him warmly by the hand, "are you Webster. Thank God! thank God! You are such a deuced ugly chap, that I took you for some cut-throat or highway-man." Mr Webster never was an "ugly chap," yet he looked like one of whom a timid man might well be afraid.] The Attempt to Assassinate James Gor-don Bennett.

It has just come out that on the evening of the 18th ult., a man, whose identity has not been made out, employed a hackman at the Park to take him to the Fulton Ferry. On their way down, the person stopped the backman at the Herald Office, and asked him to deliver a package. The hackman did as he was requested, and left in the Herald Office a small round box. The box was subsequently handed to Mr. Bennett, the editor of the Herald. It was, as is said, marked as follows: "Native silver and copper ore from the Cuba mountains, with letter inside the box. For James Gordon Bennett, proprieter and editor. Office, N. W. corner of Fulton and Nassau sts. Private and with care." Accompanying the box was a card, on which was printed with a pen, as follows: "Senor V. Alcazer, of Cuba, for Mr. Branch who will call on his return to the city . The outer envelope being removed, cription was read : "Specimens uments from the interior of Beanett (only.) Should he be out of town, keep for him. Island of Cuba, September, 1852." As the box could not be readily opened, Mr. Hudson, one of the editors of the Herald, who was present, made an incision with a knife, when some black grains of some hard substance, rolled out upon his desk. These grains proved to be powder, and a subsequent investigation proved that the paper box contained a quantity of explosive powder, pellets of paper, and friction matches, so placed as to ignite when none resulted from the tarpedo.

The Meeting of the Waters.

It is a great enterprise, that of a ship canal to unite Lakes Superior and Machigan will soon be begun. The surveys for its location have been completed, and the ground has been found quite as favorable for the easy and speedy construct about tion of the work as was expected. Several routes have been surveyed, which will enable the Legislature of Michigan and contractors to obtain a canal will be a fraction less than a mile in length. Singular.

"Ion," on yesterday remarked that Gen. Scott has probably done as well at the South, or better, than at the North. The North, which gave Gen. Scott his nomination, went almost universally against his elevation. One of the Northern States, Massachusetts, which gave him her electoral vote, gave no vote for his nomination. Neither did Kentucky and Tennessee sustain his nomination. His electoral votes are chiefly from States opposed to his nomination.

A Treaty not Confirmed.

A late Liverpool paper states that as a wedding party was assending the steps which approached one of the Liverpool churches a few days ago, the intended bride missed her footing and fell. The swain, unable, even at that joyful crisis of his existence, to conceal his vexation at this little contre temps, exclaimed, pettishly: "Dear me, how very clumsy!" The lady said nothing, but she was observed to bite her lips, and a far darker and gloomier look than beseemed the Court of Hymen was seen to gather on her brow. She walked deliberately, however, into The New York Herald thus reiterates a late the church: the ceremony commenced; and everything proceeded in orthodox fashion, until the important question was put-"Wilt thou have this man?" &c. Here, instead of whispering, blushingly, a soft affirmative to the communion cushions, the lady drew herself up, cast a withering glance upon her betrothed, and muttering the words, "Dear me, how very clumsy!" sailed down the aisle, and out of the chush, with the port of an offended goddess.

The enterprise of bringing the Old and New Worlds within four or five days communication of each other, through the powerful agencies of steam and electricity, is likely to be soon brought to a consummation. The capital for the New Foundland Electric Telegraph, connecting New York with Cape Race, has already been subscribed, and the completion of the line is promised early in the coming summer. The line will be 1500 miles long, 150 miles of which will be sub-

The Cincinnati Gazette estimates that there are between four and five hundred dealers in ready made clothing in that city, who have an aggregate capital of ten millions nine hundred and twenty thousand dollars invested in the business, and who give employment to ten thousand persons. A large propotion of the ready made clothing of the West and South-west, is manufactured at Cincinnati, and many of the establishments there have branch stores in all the interior towns and cities.

In compactly built cities especially, more or ess annoyance is experienced from the proximity of cess-pools, sinks, &c., and in warm weather health often suffers. A pound of copperas, (six cents' worth,) dissolved in a bucket of water, and thrown where the effluvia proceeds from, affords an effectual remedy, by changing the gases into an unvolulatile concretion.

The N. Y. Tribune says :- "The late regulation advancing the prices of the more expensive dishes from sixpence to ninepence per plate in the cheap eating houses has been abandoned. It operated against the proprietors. Many persons who would eat one ninepenny plate will most freely devour two sixpenny plates. They must, therefore, be accommodated with low rates."

It is said that much spurious gold coin is in circulation. It is thickly coated with the precious metal, and has to be filed deeply to reach the base, which makes it absolutely necessary that persons who handle much of this coin should have scales with which to detect the cheat.

Mr. Webster out of Debt.

It is asserted by Mr. Abbott that Mr. Webster owed nothing at the period of his death. That gentleman has said: "From my personal knowledge derived from keeping the private accounts of Mr. Webster, I have some opportunity of knowing. Not a bill has been presented for two or more years, during which time I have been with him, but it has been promptly paid, and a few days before he died, he called the overseer of his farm, gave him five hundred dollars to pay every man, and sent for the minister and paid all that was due him. It shall not be said that Daniel Webster died in debt to any man."

The Boards of Aldermen and Common Council, last Monday recommended the observance of the 25th of this month (by our citizens) as a day of thanksgiving and prayer.

The Mechanics Institute meets this even ing at 7 o'clock, in the Smithsonian building. The Institute has now over 500 members. The Committee on the Exhibition is at work completing their arrangements. Already there is a long list of articles to be exhibited, and many of them splendid mechanical inventions. New York, Philadelphla and Baltimore will be well represented. Our Washington mechanics must be moving in ico, to assassinate President Arista. A radical

> The "Ravel Family" is performing to good houses at the theatre. Our citizens are fond of variety, which is abundantly supplied by this celebrated troupe, and accounts for the great success of their engagement.

Bar A very large and fashionable audience greeted Kendall & Dickinson's Boston Ethiopean Troupe on their first appearance in this city, at Odd Fellows' Hall last evening. The performances were of a very attractive character, the company embracing a great degree of musical talent. The unrivalled performances of Mr. Kendall on the clarionet, and the equally excellent skill of Mr. Fenton in his solos on the violin, drew forth rapturous applause. The youthful predigy, Master Wilkins, in his ballad songs, was also re ceived with much favor. As a whole, this troupe will compare most favorably with any of its predecessors here. They appear again to-night in a new programme.

Our readers will notice in another column, the announcement of arrivals at the Marble Hotel. The approach of winter makes those arrivals of some importance to the community; and all who desire the improvement of their understandings, should not fail to call at Mill's, where the arrivals from Benckert's, McCauley's, Whitney's, &c. will remain until otherwise ordered.

Mr. R. Pumphrey, an old gentleman who lived over the Eastern Branch, was knocked on the head with a stone by one John Long on Monday night last. We are not aware of the cause of the attack nor the entire facts of the case. Mr. Pumphrey was a well disposed person, very well known, and much respected in this city. We heard this morning that Mr. Pumphrey was dead. Long had not been arrested.

The Government Sale of lots, commenced a McGuire's auction rooms on Monday, was completed yesterday. Many bidders were in attendance. There were nearly four hundred lots, embracing upwards of five millions of square feet of ground, and which realized from twenty to twenty-five thousand dollars, at prices ranging from three mills to four and-a-quarter cents per foot. In addition to the above, Mr. McGuire afterwards sold a number of lots on private account, at rates slightly in advance of those stated, and all of them above the assessment.

The ground, owing to the increasing prosperity of our city, will no doubt, in the course of a very few years, largely increase in value.

STRONG ON THE GOSPELS.

TEW Harmony and Exposition of the Gospels: Consisting of a Parallel and Combined Arrangement, on a New Plan, of the Narratives of the Four Evangelists, according to the Authorized Translation: and a Continuous Commentary, with Brief Notes subjoined. Being the First Period of the Gospel History. With a Supplement, containing extended Chronological and Topographical Dissertations, and a complete Analytical Index. By JAMES STRONG, A. M. Illustrated by Maps and Engravings. 8vo., pp. 569. Price §3.

the gem is worth the setting. The bSck is a noble example of the application of genuine learning, unwearied industry, and critical asgacity to that highest of all objects to which the wit of man can apply itself—the illustration of the Christian Scriptures.

ian Scriptures.

"The illustrations, nineteen in number, are partly lithographs tinted in the finest style of the art, partly steel, and partly wood engravings, all executed in the very best manner.

"A better Harmony, on a better plan than this of Mr. Strong's does not exist. He has availed himself of all the good things in former works of its class, without servilely copying any. His plan combines the exhibition of each Gospel in separate columns, with that of making a text from portions of all; and it is executed with unsurpassed. Gospel in separate columns, with that from portlons of all; and it is executed with unsurpassed ingenuity. His exposition or paraphrase—If paraphrase it can be called—gives the sense of the Greek text in a clear, free, simple style, while his notes are critical, explanatory, and concise. It also contains much important matter in three appendixes. To the minister this book is almost in dispeasable; and its use at family prayers would tend to throw a great amount of interest around the services of the domestic altar."—Zion's Herald.
